A Check Not Legal Tender. A Check Not Legal xender.

The case of Frederick Koones against the District of Columbia was decided in the court in bane yesterday. This was a bill filed to enjoin the collector of taxes and the District from join the collector of taxes and the District from collecting certain taxes due by Koones, on the ground that he had paid the same by check on Middleton & Co., dated May 29, but, through the negligence, as was claimed, of the collector, it was not presented until the first of May, when the bank had suspended. The court held that a check as given was not payment; that the collector had no authority in law to receive the same, and that in receiving the check as he did ne was simply acting as agent for the complainant, and that the only thing the collector could receive in payment of taxes was money. Justice Merrick delivered the online of the Court.

A Letter to the Ex-Trustees Disposing of Their Proposed Bill and Detailing the Commissioners' Plan of Proceed

The commissioners have addressed the llowing letter to Dr. Robert Reyburn as chairman of the ex-school trustees' com-

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL POLICY.

chairman of the ex-school trustees' committee;

"Your favor of the 26th ultimo has been received and its contents noted. The bill presented by your committee has been carefully read and considered, and I am instructed to say that an answer would have been transmitted sooner but has been delayed by the pressure of other matters.

"The commissioners are satisfied that the interests of the public schools will be much better subserved by keeping the control of these schools just where the existing law puts it than by the means provided in the bill referred to them. The act of 1878, which abolishes the board of school trustees, transfers all the power and duties exercised by that board to the commissioners, and authorizes them to employ such agents and to accept such provisions as may be necessary to carry into execution the powers and duties so conferred. By this same act the appointment of trustees, who are to have the powers and perform the duties in relation to the care and management of the public schools authorized by law, is confided to the commissioners. In their letter of the illst of December last, addressed to the board of school trustees, the commissioners call attention to the provisions of the act of 1878, and give it as is, autressed to the control of school trus nes, the commissioners call attention to the rovisions of the act of 1878, and give it as act opinion that the terms, care and man-gement have reference to the schools as complete institutions fully organized and quipped with teachers, school buildings, and lantices.

equipped with teachers, school buildings, and janitors.

"When the school is a complete institution the care and management of it is assigned to the trustees, under laws existing in 1878 having relation thereto, and it only remains to ascertain definitely what laws are specifically referred to by this language.

"The bill presented to the commissioners by your committee proposes to establish a board of school trustees, consisting of twenty-four, instead of nine, and confers larger powers and imposes more engrossing duties upon them than does the present law, without compensation.

"The commissioners do not think that a plan which thus imposes upon unpaid agents duties so numerous and so difficult, and at the same time holds them to so great responsibility, is a good one, and they think also that the plan proposed is defective in that it divides the responsibility for the proper conduct of the schools among a large number of trustees, and so continues a system which for several years past has not worked successfully.

"As to the number of trustees it should ber of trustees, and so continues a system which for several years past has not worked successfully.

"As to the number of trustees it should be borne in mind that for four years (from 1878 to 1882) there were nineteen trustees; that the school authorities concluded that nineteen were too many, and that with a view to securing the best results they advised that the number should be reduced to eight or nine. So carnestly was this theory urged that Congress was persuaded to reduce? the number to nine. Why there should be any change at this time does not sufficiently appear.

"If a plan can be devised which will concentrate the responsibility for the proper conduct of the schools, render patronage with respect to the sppointment of teachers impossible, place the guardianship and protection of the immensely valuable property represented by and belonging to the schools in responsible hands and under the supervision of agents paid for such work, keep divisions, factious blekerings, and scandals of every sort out of contact with the school system, and, if along with all this, the services of citizens of shility and education can be obtained as advisers of the commissioners in their supervision of educational matters relating to the public schools, the commissioners hink a great work will be accomplished without further legislation, and they intend to devote the means at their disposal and every force and agency which they can call to their assistance to the introduction and perfection of this plan."

Bot-it's pains and accidents will occur no only "in the best regulated families, but everywhere and at all times. Therefore keep Salvation Oil convenient. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

The Delaware Horse Thief. Chief of Police Daugherty, of Wilmington, icl., reached here yesterday morning and identified Joe Zimmerman as being the party who stole a horse and buggy from a Wilming-ton livery stable keeper and tried to dispose of the team here. The chief left on the 11 a.m. rain with his prisoner and the team for Wil-minston.

A Mystery.

How the human system ever recovers from the bad effects of the nauseous medicines often literally pointed into it for the suppositive relief of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, rhenmalism, and other alliments is a mystery. The mischief done by bad medicines is scarcely test than that caused by disease. If they who are weak, bilious, dyspeptic, constipated, or rhenmatic would offener be guided by the experience of invalids who have thoroughly tested Hostetter's Stomach Bitters they would in every instance obtain the speediest aid derivable from rational medication. This medicine is a scarching and at the same time a thoroughly safe remedy, derived from vegetable sources, and possessing, in consequence of its basis of pure spirits, properties as a medicine is a simulant not to be found in the flery local bitters and stimulants often resorted to by the debilitated, dyspeptie, and languid.
